

UNAVIAcert Certification

UNAVIAcert is a Certification Body providing assessments and certification services specifically for the Aerospace and Defence industries.

We're here to help...

Kiwa UNAVIAcert is a benchmark for the Aerospace certification market throughout Italy and Europe. Certification services are used by 130 companies for 91xx series of standards including Alena Aermacchi, Piaggio Aero, Airitalia.

Our approach is based on the best industry practice; we have comprehensive specialist experience in safety and mission critical systems. We don't produce aerospace software, hardware or systems so UNAVIAcert has no conflict of interest and will not be regarded as a potential competitor by vendors of highly confidential intellectual property.

We certify:

9100:2009 Quality Management Systems - required for Development, Production, Installation and Service Organisations

9110:2012 Quality Management Systems - required for Aviation Maintenance Organisations

9120:2009 Quality Management Systems - required for Aviation, Space and Defence Distributors

Most European Accreditation Bodies have a mutual agreement to allow other Certification Bodies to operate outside of their country. UKAS has such an agreement with Accredia, permitting UNAVIAcert to operate outside of Italy. All Primes recognise this mutual agreement.
